Still looking for that perfect solution to complete your project?

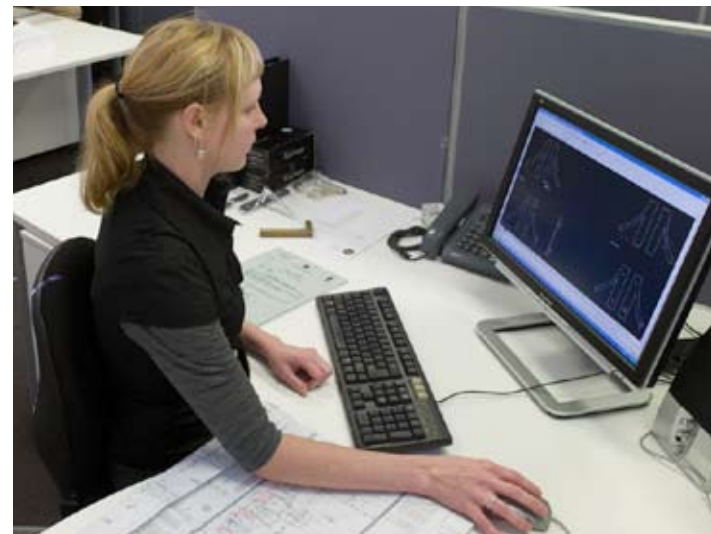

Whether sleek and contemporary, or solid and bold, Designer Doorware has the solution – bespoke designs for a truly unique and contemporary finish.

Tailored specifically to suit the application, our designs are as individual as your requirements. The technology and engineering capabilities at Designer Doorware offer a complete service, including design, drawing and manufacturing. So whether you're looking for commercial or residential architectural hardware, we can produce it.

The process

1. Firstly, our highly experienced product designers will work with you to establish your needs and custom design applications to suit.
2. Then, through CAD, we refine the design to specific dimensions and various perspectives.
3. At this stage of the process, our skilled engineers ensure the design allows for correct mechanical considerations such as fixings, material size, composition of material – stainless steel, brass, and aluminum – as well as matching or advising on the most appropriate finish for your project, incorporating variations for both internal and external applications.

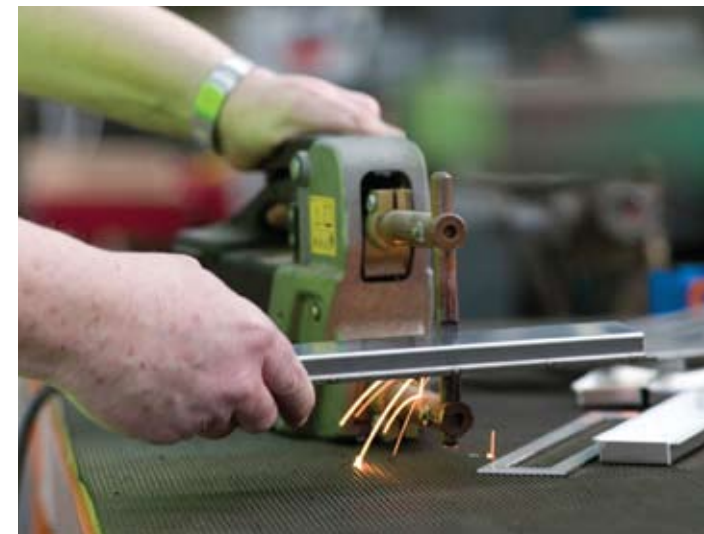

Uncompromised quality and excellence.

Our services

We can incorporate your company logo onto front entry handles or bring your designs to life for any commercial or residential project, including door levers, bathroom accessories or cabinet hardware.
